

About Cassie

Cassie Elliott is a native Arkansan, and moved to Fayetteville to attend the University of Arkansas. While at the U of A patiently paying her way through college, she worked her way to title insurance department manager at a local title company. After obtaining a Bachelor of Arts, she became involved in her local city government at the Town of Highfill. Cassie served the town in numerous capacities such as Town Clerk and Secretary of the Planning Commission, and also obtained Master Municipal Clerk status. She assisted in developing a master plan for the city, subdivision and zoning regulations and building a municipal water system. She continues to represent the Town of Highfill in real estate transactions, grant writing and easement acquisition.

Cassie has worked with a multitude of city and county government entities to assist with their utility easements, grant needs and infrastructure. She uses this knowledge to further her real estate career assisting developers and landowners since obtaining her real estate license in January 2005. She obtained her broker's license & Graduate of the Realtor's Institute (GRI) in July 2007 and her CCIM (Certified Commercial Investment Member) designation in October 2008. Though her reputation and business is built on the commercial and development side of the industry, she also enjoys working in the residential market to take care of her relationships she has built with developers, as well as those citizens in the local community. She also has extensive knowledge of historic properties and dealing with individual owners as well as non-profit corporations to maximize tax benefits and grant opportunities through the Arkansas Historic Preservation Program. She has nominated numerous properties over the years to the National Register of Historic Places.

Elliott also serves as the chairman of the Benton County Rural Development Authority, Board Member and Past President of the Benton County Historical Society and Treasurer of the NWA CCIM (Certified Commercial Investment Member) Chapter. Cassie resides in Highfill with her husband, Scott and two children.

Cassie Elliott, CCIM, GRI, Executive Broker
479.531.8897 FAX 479.878.5954
vmilestones@gmail.com
www.visionarymilestones.com

